

Let's Go!

Explore how eggs go from the farm to the store.

Laying hens live
in warm barns.

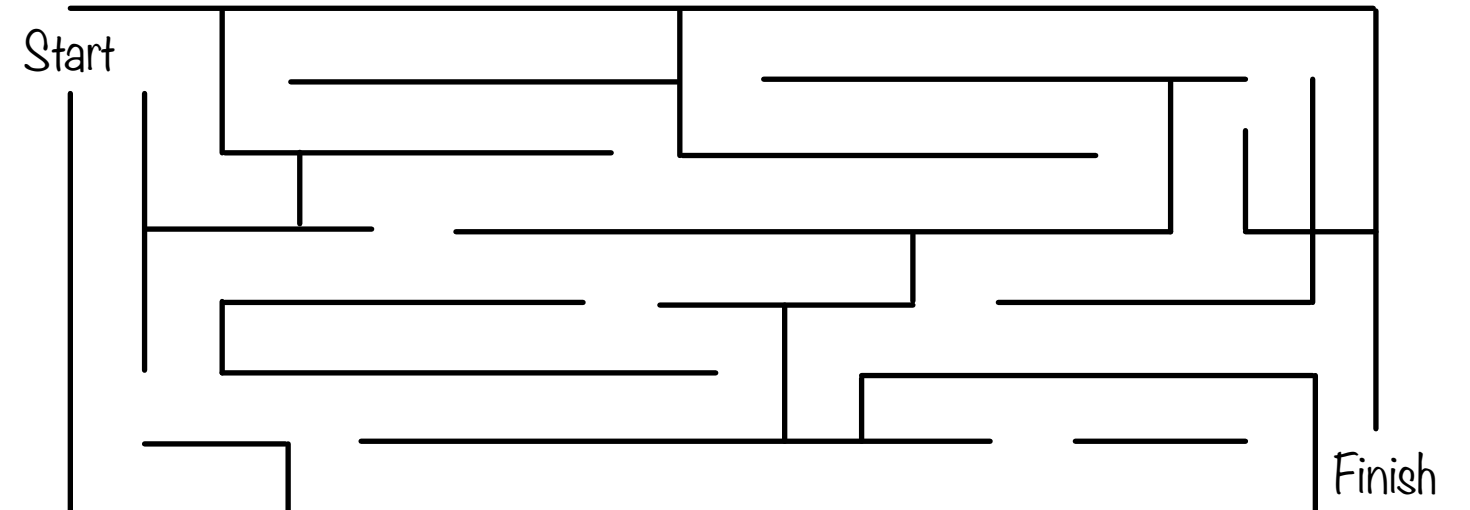

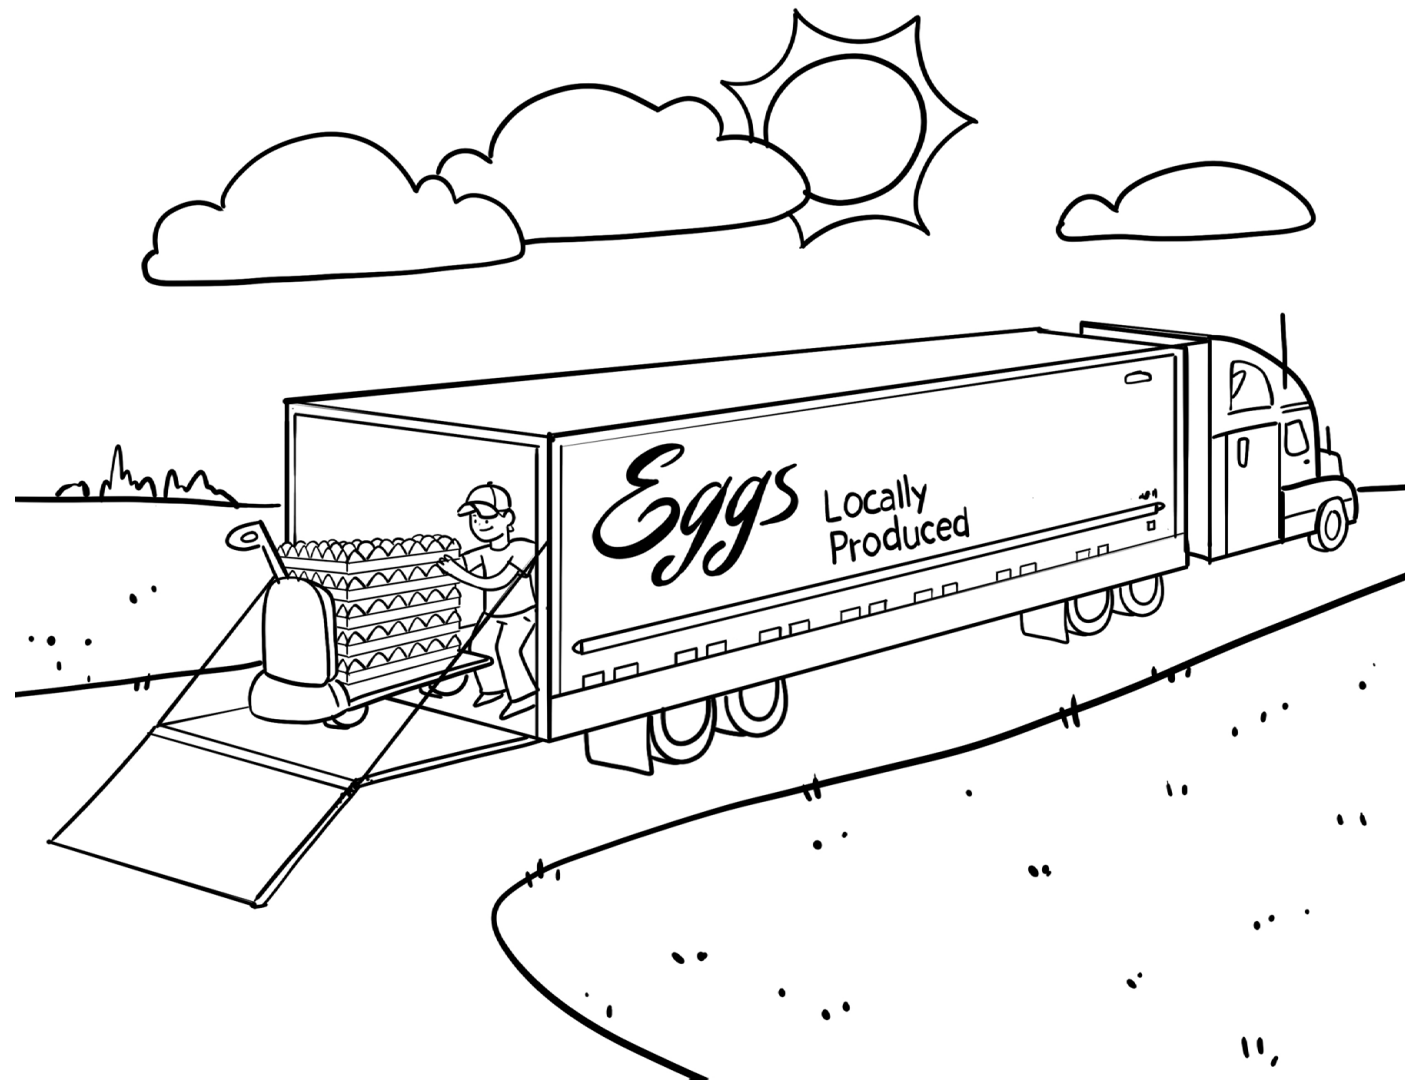

Where they eat, sleep,
drink water and lay eggs.

Farm families take care of the hens and collect the eggs.

The eggs go into big trucks to be washed and sorted at a grading station. Once they're packaged in cartons, the eggs are delivered to stores.

Fresh Manitoba eggs are sold in grocery stores.

Eggs are a great source of protein and energy.
